ABC-Amega Enhances Legal Capabilities with Hire of Attorney

Buffalo, NY – ABC-Amega, a global commercial receivables management firm headquartered in Buffalo, NY, has enhanced its legal capabilities with the hire of Tracey Wild to the position of Vice President of Legal Collections.

In this role, Tracey will work closely with the Vice President of Global Operations to oversee ABC-Amega’s Legal Collections department, which works with clients to determine if and when claims should be escalated for legal intervention. Tracey bring over 25 years of corporate legal and collection experience the company. She has previously worked in both consumer and commercial collections, and was most recently with the law firm Sessions, Fishman, Nathan & Israel, LLC focused on the areas of regulatory and licensing compliance, representing business process outsourcing and 3rd party debt collection clients.

“Tracey’s skills and expertise will be an asset to our legal collections team,” said Paul Catalano, President & COO, ABC-Amega. “She is a welcome addition to the ABC-Amega family,” added Paul.

Tracey is a member of the New York State Bar Association and the ACA International Members’ Attorney Program. She earned her Juris Doctor degree from the University of Buffalo Law School. “I’m excited to be on board with ABC-Amega,” said Wild. “The company is well-known and respected in the commercial collections industry and I look forward to working with the legal department to continue to bring successful results for clients.”
