ABC-Amega Announces New Leadership for Credit Services Division

Buffalo, NY – ABC-Amega, a global commercial receivables management firm headquartered in Buffalo, NY, is pleased to announce the promotion of Daniel Pike to Divisional Vice President, Credit Services. Dan is taking over leadership of ABC-Amega’s Credit Services division from Paul Grolemond who is retiring after 31 years with the company.

In this role, Dan will oversee the management and operations of ABC-Amega’s credit groups, credit interchange database, conference and meeting coordination, and educational planning. He is responsible for the growth and service enhancement of ABC’s credit service offerings, including the development of new industry groups.

“Dan brings great experience to this position, having worked as a professional in the credit group industry for over 30 years. In his relatively short tenure at ABC-Amega, Dan has earned the respect of his colleagues, clients, and group members alike and they all look forward to working with him in his new role,” said David Herer, Chief Executive Officer.

Dan joined ABC-Amega in 2020 as the Director of Motor Credit Services, where he facilitated the development and management of ABCD Motor Credit Group, the Aftermarket Suppliers Credit Group (ASCG), and the Marine Accessory Manufacturers Credit Association (MAMCA).

Dan earned a degree in economics from Elon University and began his professional career in commercial insurance and business planning. In 1992, he transitioned to the financial services division of a motor vehicle industry trade association, where he spent 28 years. During this time, Dan was responsible for the administration and facilitation of five credit discussion groups in various segments of the motor vehicle industry. He developed this role to include working as an advisor for General Unsecured Creditors’ Committees as well as serving as a bankruptcy distribution agent and trustee.
